

Linux Users' Group of Davis

presents

Open-Source Tech Café

19th November, Davis Library

Questions about Free, Open-Source Software? Curious about how Linux works? We've got your back with this event. It's an open meeting to demonstrate the software people are interested in, and a problem-solving arena for those in need.

Most people want to "try before they buy", even with free software, and this is a perfect opportunity to see how Linux and other software solutions work in the real world.

Feel free to bring your questions, computer or other (open-source) software problems, and we will do our best to resolve them with you.

The meeting is at 7pm, 19th November in the Davis Library's Conference Room (14th Street, Davis). It's free to attend, and we'd love to meet you to discuss what's really important.

What is LUGOD?

We advocate for and support free, open-source software solutions, including the Linux operating system. We have two monthly meetings; a social meeting at 7pm on the first Tuesday of the month, and a general meeting (a presentation, demo or discussion of a topic) each third Monday. Full details are listed on our website.

<https://lugod.org>

a 501(c)(7) not-for-profit computer club
supporting open-source since December 1998

